She was a white haired woman, bowed with seventy years, and Judge De Meza, in the Plainfield Police Court, was on the point of discharging her.

"Your Honor," she said, in a piping voice "if it makes no difference to you I would lke to be sent to the county jail for thirty days."

The prisoner, Mrs. Fleming, had been ar rested for yelling while she sat on the curb after being ejected from a saloon. Judge De Meza, surprised, asked for the reason of her request. She said she had no place to go. The Judge granted her wish.

WESTERN MERCHANTS GET CHEAP FARES.

They Come to New York on Baptist Convention Tickets. Many merchants from points west of the Mississippi River are already arriving in the city, many of them having registered at the rooms of the Merchants' Association. They did not wait for the reduced rates The Kind You Have Always Bought which will go into effect at St. Louis and Chicago in the early part of August, but availed themselves of the reduced rates for the convention known as the Baptist Young People's Union," held at Buffalo July 14 and 17.

July 14 and 17.

The reduced rate at which tickets were sold for this convention all over the country was at the rate of one fare for the round trip. Anybody could avail himself of this privilege.

The Merchants' Association learned of this, and sent circulars into States where no reduced rates had been granted in favor of the Merchants' Association to New York. Since then the Southwestern Passenger Bureau, controlling the roads west of the Mississippi River and southwest of St. Louis running into Texas, have reconsidered their action, and have granted the rates which will be operative on the same dates as the rates will be in effect from St. Louis and Chicago.

"When the Sixth and Eighth avenue roads are completed the whole East Side of the city will be brought into easy access with the two West Side thoroughfares, and it will afford equal facilities to those living on the West Side to use the East Side lines of the company extending from the Battery to the Hariem River.

"We are proposing to issue only $10,000,000 of stock. The improvement of Fouria avenue allowed us to increase the car mileage from 7,500 to 15,000 miles per day."
